Digital Transformation - A Tale of 3 Industries

From financial services to automotive, digital capabilities are transforming how companies in many industries do business in today's ultra-connected world.

In this session we will look at practical use cases around the world, and determine together the Why, What and How in their transformation journeys. We expect this to be an interactive session, so bring your thinking hats on and let's explore!

Speaker's Profile

Sean Lee, Managing Director, Dell Technologies

Sean is an accomplished general manager with extensive go-to-market professional experience working with start-ups and global technology companies in North America and Asia. He is also a frequent conference speaker, focusing on digital innovation, Internet of Things and industry domains.

Sean has global responsibilities serving Dell Technologies' most strategic clients. This includes providing thought leadership and managing CxO level client relationships, while also acting as the unified lead across all 7 subsidiaries (Dell EMC, VMware, Pivotal, Dell, RSA, SecureWorks, Virtustream) within the Dell Technologies family.

Prior to Dell Technologies, Sean was regional director for Pivotal, a Silicon Valley based start-up focusing in modern agile software development. He managed both global accounts sales and field marketing in the Asia Pacific regions.
