Brief Description

This talk provides an overview of the importance of risk mitigation from a quality and safety perspective by analysing the systemic and dynamic risks of the well-known Titanic tragedy in 1912. Happening over a century ago, there are still many valuable insights and principles we can learn today. Come and join us for an interesting sharing session on the Titanic case and how it can be applied in today's business world.

Speaker's Profile

Patrick Lee joined Intertek in 2018 and is responsible for the Group's North-East Asia & Australasia region. Prior to joining Intertek, he was CEO of Inchcape Greater China, the world's leading automobile distributor, where he had the distinction of delivering the Toyota Triple Crown award for market leadership in Hong Kong for ten consecutive years. Patrick has over 30 years' management experience with a proven track record of success with blue-chip companies including P&G, Coca-Cola and Toyota.

Patrick was granted the highest accolade of “Man of a Decade” Award by Automobile Magazine in 2017 for his excellent stewardship.
