Corporate Governance Policies that Support Women Wed 11 August 2021

Hong Kong Time 3pm-6pm

Board diversity is one element that contributes to board effectiveness. Gender diversity is one important factor in building board diversity on boards.

Diversity in all its forms should be a feature of good corporate culture and is inspired by the tone from the top and driven by policies and strategies set by the board. To build board diversity and inclusivity, policies that support board, management and workforce diversity contribute to building a balance and can help positively influence corporate performance.

Building gender diversity can start with establishing approaches that build access and opportunity to board roles and to other leadership positions in organisations, and ensuring these are balances with appointing for the right skills and experience
